BLACK | LINE

Black Line is excited to announce that we have partnered with Curricula as our new Learning Management System for Security Awareness Training and Phishing testing!
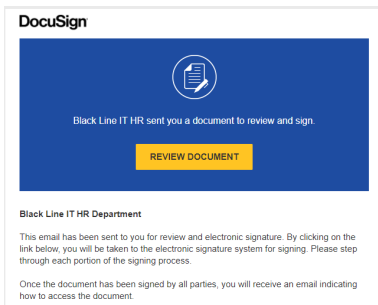

Training sessions:

The training takes a different approach than the typical companywide security trainings of the past. Rather than an outdated training that occurs one time a year, covers as many topics as possible, and bores your employees to death, this new training is broken into several pre-made videos where each topic is delivered in bite-sized pieces with fun, engaging, story-like content that your team can take as their schedule allows.

Black Line will deliver these assignments to your team on a quarterly basis covering 3 important cyber-security topics each quarter. This content comes with built-in quizzes to test the knowledge of your team throughout the training courses.
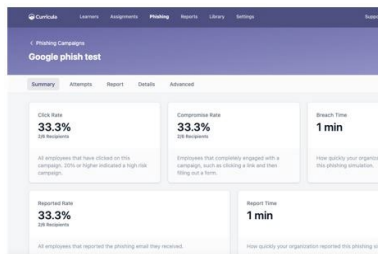

Phishing tests:

Phishing attacks occur every day to companies of all shapes and sizes! It's time to arm your team with the tools on how to spot these types of attacks so they do not fall victim.

Black Line will launch phishing tests for your team on a quarterly basis via this platform. These tests are highly sophisticated in appearance and can be customized if there is ever a certain topic you want to test your team on. We can also target certain departments or user-groups with tests geared specifically towards them.

Reporting:

Black Line will also provide you with reporting on your team's training completion/compliance, scores per training assignment, and detailed phishing test results. If any team members fail the assignment quizzes or phishing tests, training will be redistributed to them to ensure proper comprehension and application.

We look forward to taking this journey together toward a safer cyber security world in 2022!
